With a dynamic career spanning over two decades in the realms of science-based healthcare businesses, pharmaceuticals, and venture capital, Ishil Ozturk stands as a seasoned leader and entrepreneur in the life sciences industry.

Ishil founded iWisdom, an outcome-driven life sciences partner-exemplifying her commitment to driving innovation and excellence in the life sciences sector. This venture showcases a deep understanding of the industry, coupled with an entrepreneurial spirit that seeks to shape the future of healthcare. Ishil brings her remarkable ability to navigate the complexities of the global pharmaceutical landscape, with hands-on experience in the United States, European Union, Turkey, Japan, China, Mexico and Brazil. Her extensive career background reflects significant achievements and diverse experiences, serving in key roles within bigPharma, post-merger acquisition, private equity, government and key institutions spanning from asset commercialisation with P&L accountability up to £ 0.3b across therapy areas, direct to consumer to biotechnology incubator and centre of excellence infrastructure design and execution at global level.

A visionary entrepreneur, Ishil has played pivotal roles in organizational restructuring, rigorous operational control deployment, and post-merger integration, showcasing a strategic mindset beyond the traditional boundaries of pharmaceutical enterprises. Her marketing track record in FMCG, Procter & Gamble, differentiates her mindset in Life Sciences. Her contributions have been particularly instrumental in harmonizing diverse corporate cultures and streamlining operations for enhanced efficiency and accelerated outcomes.

As a commercialization expert, Ishil is outcome driven, does not shy away from taking accountability. She spearheaded successful launches across various therapy areas, focusing on vaccines and specialty and general medicine. Ishil's crowning achievement includes the 2023 blockbuster launch of Arexvy (>£1b) a groundbreaking vaccine in the United States. This accomplishment underscores her ability to not only navigate the intricacies of the pharmaceutical market but also to lead high-impact initiatives that shape the industry's future.

In every facet of her career, Ishil exemplifies leadership, innovation, and a commitment to advancing healthcare solutions cross-borders with a focus on creating value and deploying novel mindsets to advance infrastructure. Her professional passion is ensuring equitable access and global talent activation at global scale.
